"I have lived in Dearborn 56 years. When I got married to John, I was so proud to be a Dearborn resident. My 5 children attended Edsel Ford High School, then The University of Michigan – Dearborn where they received masters degrees. I like Dearborn for being a clean city with convenient shopping. Residents all keep their homes up to date and are very proud of them. We can always count on our snow removal services and trash pick-up."

"At 41, I have lived in several countries, multiple cities and owned over a dozen homes. My husband, children and I moved to Dearborn 3 years ago. In that short period, we have made more friends than in the previous 20, we have been invited to participate in organizations, events and festivities as if we had lived here and made a mark on the community for a lifetime."

"Many of Dearborn's neighboring communities offer similar services and amenities. Good schools, safe neighborhoods, convenient parks and regular city services. These provide tremendous appeal. But the first to offer them was Dearborn! That's right, Dearborn pioneered the path for citizens' satisfaction, resulting in higher property values and making Dearborn a community that was envied, and eventually emulated by neighboring cities. Though copied, none offer the quality of the original, which keeps getting better and better!"

Marlene

"I was born in Dearborn 80 years ago and still love it. For me, Dearborn was always a "safe haven" – a bit of country surrounded by "big city." I've watched it grow and mature especially with opportunities for young adults and "empty nesters." It offers diversified culture and activities for all ages and tastes and the sense of community is outstanding."

"Dearborn will always be my hometown."

Edith

"The sense of community and family bond I feel in Dearborn is much like the family life overseas. Never in my dreams would I expect a place to be this welcoming and culturally sensitive. Where else can you live and know if your child doesn't like what mom cooked she can go to one of the gracious neighbors' homes and have a broader variety. when we say that it takes a community to raise a..."

"I love Dearborn. It stands as a living example of how different ethnicities, including those that have been persecuted and targeted elsewhere, can live peacefully together and embrace each other's cultures and traditions. There is not a corner of the earth that is not represented here in the people of Dearborn. Our ancestors have come from across the globe, but chose to raise their families here."

Kristin

"I came here in 1993, thinking I would eventually move to the other suburbs like everybody else... but I came to realize that people in other suburbs don't get to know their friendly neighbors like they do here. They don't have the great public schools and libraries. They don't have the fantastic garbage pickup, garage sales, and block parties. And above all, they don't have Camp Dearborn or Homecoming. That's why Dearborn is my home."

"Trees, Trees, Beautiful Trees,
Filled with pretty birds singing & soft buzzing bees!
Moms walking babies ~ Dads walking dogs,
Sunshine or snow, residents are doing their jog!
If it's hockey in the street or baseball in the park,
The kids are outside playing in the light and in the dark!
Parks are a plenty and the schools are the best,
Families love living here even with an "empty nest"!

"Dearborn has pizzazz! From its tree-lined boulevards to the spire atop the Henry Ford Museum, Dearborn is a city proud of its people and proud of its heritage. History makes note of its contributions to the American way, and the faces of its residents bear witness to its welcoming spirit. You can grow up in Dearborn, and you can grow old here, too. Whatever time you spend in Dearborn will stay with you forever.

Daniel

"What makes Dearborn so special to me are the people. Born and raised in Dearborn, I have enjoyed the benefits of close knit neighborhoods and wonderful schools that helped breed lifelong friends. Now my children get to experience the same gifts this city offers. Great neighbors who you can count on, block parties, neighborhood associations and wonderful parks. This is just one aspect of this wonderful city!
